Year 13s - register to vote!

Prime Minister Rishi Sunak made a surprise announcement to call a general election on 4th July 2024. A general election is when the public votes on who they want their MP to be — this is the person who represents your local area in Parliament. Most people who stand will represent a political party, and the Conservatives have been in power for 14 years. Even though this election is happening in just a months' time, there is still time for you to register to vote!

Voting means that you can have an influence over issues which affect your local community – including resources allocated to educational providers and local job opportunities. You have until 11:59pm on 28th June 2024 to register to vote, and you must be 18 by the day of the election to vote.

This is Hull: Uni Life

On 3rd July 2024, Year 1 students will be taken to This is Hull at the University of Hull. The festival will showcase to you what university life can be like – and it won't cost you a penny. Lunch vouchers and a drink voucher will be provided for you while you explore the campus and all the sessions available for you.

You will soon be sent the links to book your coaches. Please speak to whoever you want to travel with to ensure you are on the same coach. Once you have booked onto a coach, this cannot be changed! Please also ensure you have parental consent – you will have received an email with the parental consent form if you require it. Please print and hand this to reception as soon as possible!

Work Experience

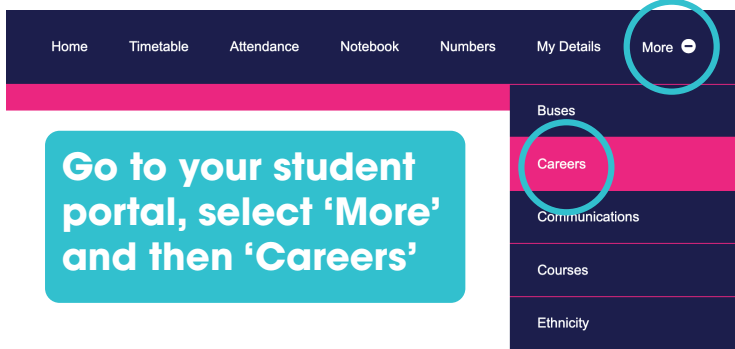

If you are looking for work experience, you can view our existing opportunities here. If you are interested in any of the opportunities, please email nicola.lloyd-jones@franklin.ac.uk for further information on how to apply.

A SPOTLIGHT

ON...

Advertising, Marketing & Public Relations

A career in marketing is all about selling products and ideas in creative and innovative ways. Every business that has something to sell – whether it's a mobile phone company or a cookery school – needs to inspire people to buy it: that's marketing. Marketing jobs cover lots of different areas, from researching the customers and what they want to buy, to writing 'copy' that encourages people to make the purchase. Advertising is one (big) part of marketing. We come across adverts every day - from TikTok and YouTube to radio, billboards and magazines. A career in public relations (PR) is all about raising the profile of an organisation. For example, planning a campaign to highlight how eco-friendly your company is, or organising press releases and events to introduce your new business to the world.

What jobs are available?

The great thing about marketing is that you can work for any kind of organisation, from a charity to a fashion label or even your favourite TV channel. There are heaps of different marketing, advertising and PR job roles to choose from, including Art Director, Copywriter, PR Officers and Managers, Events Planning, Research, Digital Marketing and more.

Entry routes and training

What you should study depends on what you want to do. If you want to go down the design route you should study art and design at A-level or an NVQ in design and a related degree. For research jobs, it's handy to have a degree and to study maths at least at A-level. If you want to direct and oversee marketing campaigns, and see yourself as more of an all-rounder, you can study A-levels in marketing and business and do the same for your degree.

There are loads of apprenticeships in marketing, including the marketing assistant advanced apprenticeship, marketing executive higher apprenticeship and options at level 6 as well. Through an apprenticeship, you could also become a digital marketer or market research executive. You could do a degree in a field related to business, marketing or sales. Marketing professionals also study university subjects such as English, sociology or psychology, which provide many of the skills needed in the industry.

Where are vacancies advertised?

Vacancies are advertised on national and global jobs boards, sites like LinkedIn, industry websites such as Digital Marketing Jobs and Dice, and on the Government's Find a Job service.

UNIVERSITY INFORMATION

Summer Open Days at the University of Hull

Join the University of Hull for an Open Day this June and July and discover what it's really like to study at Hull: rated Gold in the Teaching Excellence Framework (TEF). Everything you need is on one green and leafy campus, so you can tour their facilities and visit our accommodation, chat to their lecturers and students, and get answers to all your UCAS application, student finance and support questions all in one day. Plus, take their city tour and explore Hull's hidden gems while you're there, like the Old Town, The Marina, Humber Street, and The Avenues: Hull's buzzing student quarter.

Open days will be taking place on Saturday 15th June and Saturday 13th July – click here to book your place.

University of Lincoln Year 12 Parents' Event

The University of Lincoln's parents' event has been designed for parents, guardians, and carers of current Year 12 students who would like to find out more about university study and how they can support you on your academic journey, regardless of which university you would like to study at. Guests will have the chance to hear from support staff from across the university, covering topics from fees and funding to student wellbeing. Most importantly, you will be able to ask any questions that you might have about university study so that you can feel confident about your next steps. You are, of course, also welcome to attend, and will find value in the information, resources, and advice provided throughout the evening.

This will take place on Thursday 6th June from 5:30pm – 7:30pm. Click here to sign up.
